

Material Histories of Chemistry Research Cluster
First Meeting

South Wing Council Room, UCL
Saturday December 14, 2013

Programme

Following an introduction by Simon Werrett, the meeting will consist of fifteen minute slots in which participants will have an opportunity to briefly recap their relevant research interests and activities, with a few minutes for questions. If participants wish to use a powerpoint, this will be available. We will be finished with the formal part of the day at 3.30, which should leave time for people to get to transport links. But for anyone able to stay longer we will continue the conversation in the pub.

11am: Simon Werrett, "What is material history of science?"

11.15am: Brigitte van Tiggelen – research update

11.30am: Joppe van Driel (Twente) – research update

11.45pm: Robert Anderson (Cambridge) – research update

12.00pm: lunch – booked for 12.15 at Balfour, Marchmont St, for 12 people, (020 7713 6111)

2pm: Andreas Weber (Twente) - research update

2.15pm: Anna Simmons (Research Associate, UCL) – research update

2.30pm: Lissa Roberts (Twente) – project and research update

2.45 to 3.30: discussion of plans and funding opportunities

With thanks to the Situating Chemistry 1760-1840 project and the British Society for the History of Science for supporting this workshop.

Other attendees:

Vi Li (UCL STS MSc)
Christine Guth (RCA)
Leone Hannan (UCL Museums)
Jennifer Bishop (Newnham College, Cambridge)
John Perkins (Oxford Brookes)
Michael Jewess (SHAC treasurer)

How to get to UCL

For directions from airports, see: <http://www.ucl.ac.uk/maps/public-transport>

The nearest tube stations are Euston Square, Warren Street, and Russell Square. The event is taking place in the South Wing, which is to your right as you enter the main quad from the main entrance into UCL on the north end of Gower Street.

You can access a campus map of UCL here: <http://www.ucl.ac.uk/maps>

Please keep all of your receipts for travel. Please note that taxi fares cannot be reimbursed.